Discover Your Power

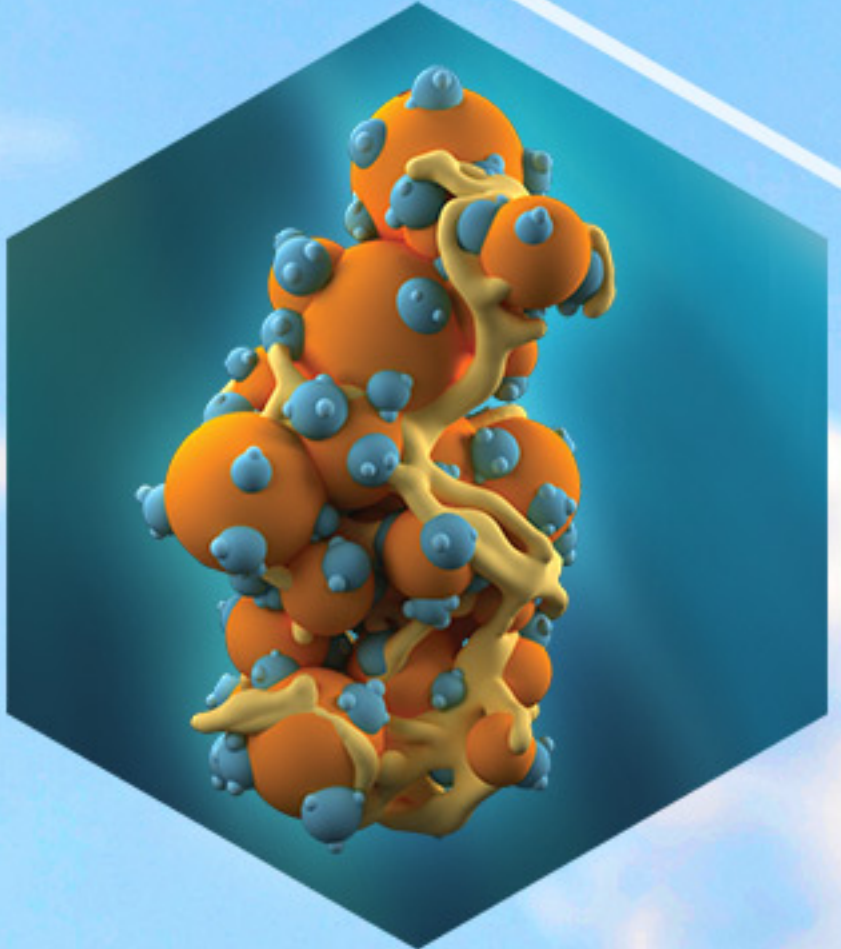

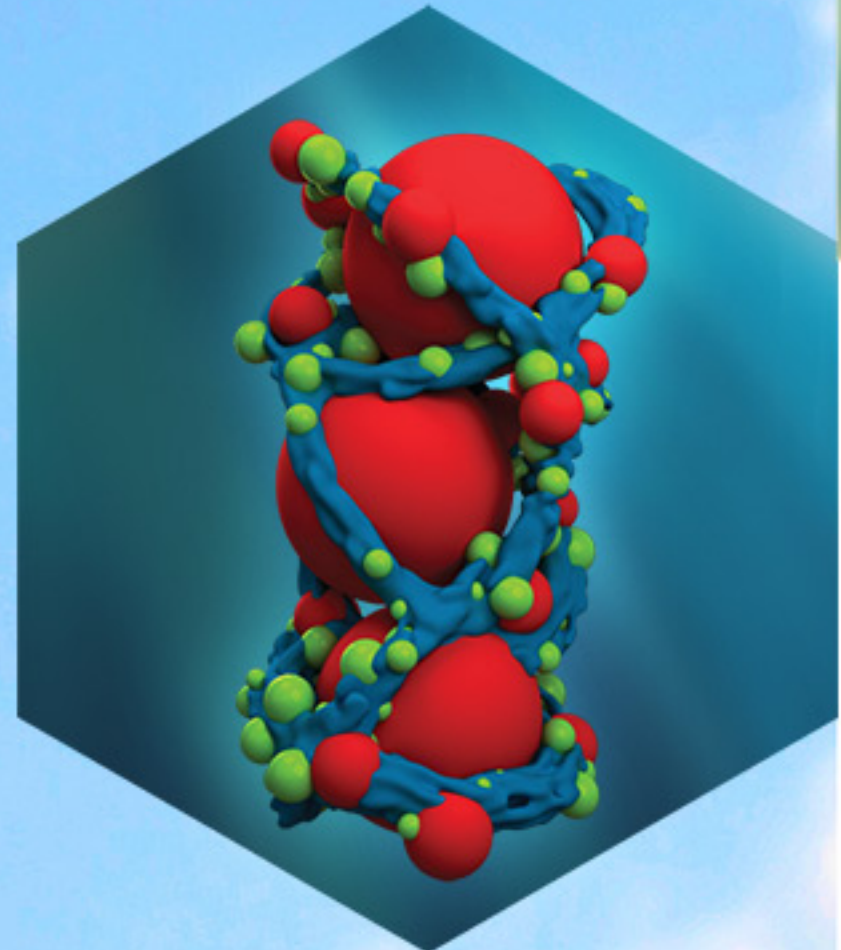

Imagine being the person you always dreamed you could be. Then imagine being even better, being something more.

What if you didn't have to imagine?

Unleash Yourself

BioFrame Diagnostics has made huge advancements in the isolation of unique proteins in activated Conduits. The biomechanic properties of these individuals are astounding: the ability to manipulate and transform matter by harnessing energy from the world around them.

Thus far, Electrical, Wire, Glass, Paper, Shadow, and Magnetic Conduit Proteins have been uncovered, barely scratching the surface of the many classifications of known Conduit types.

Studies have revealed that increased sensory sensitivity, heightened awareness, and shifts in cognitive aptitude are potential markers for Conduit-Positives, even before activation. These discoveries have led to the development of a simple, non-invasive screening test that can identify pre-activated Conduits with a high rate of accuracy.
